Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the SWCOLT Board of Directors, I am thrilled to welcome you to the 2014 SWCOLT conference here at Snowbird, Utah. This year’s conference theme: “Reaching New Heights Through Proficiency” has inspired our pre-conference workshops, exhibits, sessions, and even our events. This theme is also reflective of our profession’s shift toward communicative competence. We are now seeing the fruits of this shift as our students are developing higher levels of proficiency than ever before and are gaining a deeper understanding of how languages and cultures reflect the perspectives, practices, and products of the people who speak the language.

Our keynote speaker this year is John de Mado who has been a vocal advocate for second-language acquisition in the United States for many years. He started his career as a middle/high school French and Spanish teacher before entering the educational publishing profession. Since 1993, Mr. De Mado has directed his own business, John De Mado Language Seminars, LLC., a company devoted exclusively to language acquisition issues. He has authored numerous books in French, Spanish, and ESL that span the K–12 curriculum.

This year we are especially excited for our 90-minute focus sessions which feature some of our most pioneering colleagues and give us more time to learn from and with them. Additionally, we are thrilled to offer 10-minute Idea Avalanche sessions on both Friday and Saturday.

I’d like to take this opportunity to welcome each of you to our Members’ Reception on Friday evening from 5:30 to 7:00. Sponsored by Stevens’ Learning Systems, this event is going to be a fun, relaxing time to meet new people, make new friends, and network with some of our profession’s best minds.

We appreciate the tireless work of the presenters, exhibitors, volunteers, partnering organizations, and SWCOLT board members, all of whom dedicated much time and energy to the success of the conference. A special thanks goes to our Program Chair, Judy Cale. Finally, we thank you, the 2014 conference attendees, for your commitment to the profession through professional development and through your membership in SWCOLT and your state organizations. Enjoy the conference and your stay here at beautiful Snowbird.

Bonnie Flint
SWCOLT President

(Purchased Ticket Required)

Planning for Student Learning:
Effective Curriculum, Unit, and Lesson Design
Donna Clementi

Learn guiding principles for designing standards-based curriculum, units, and lessons focused on developing learners’ language performance. Consider how the National Standards, 21st Century Skills, and Common Core guide the development of a vertically aligned curriculum that builds students’ communication skills and cultural understandings. Participants explore thematic unit design and daily lesson planning with strategies that maximize student learning in support of curricular goals, with indicators of performance expected at each level of instruction. Content: Backward design is used as a guiding principle to create a framework for planning units of instruction and daily lessons; the template integrates the National Standards for Learning Languages, Integrated Performance Assessment, Common Core State Standards, and 21st century skills; the focus is on effective planning for student language learning. Method: Experience the process of designing units of instruction and daily lessons, examine the decisions and sources of input for designing effective units and lessons, reflect on the implications for language learning at any level and in any instructional setting. Outcomes: Be ready to apply an effective template for designing units that connect to create a vertically aligned curriculum and that will focus the planning for a daily lesson; Analyze the critical elements needed for effective planning; Learn to link assessment, instruction, and curriculum focused on effective student learning of languages.

Full Day Workshop at SWCOLT

Teaching Proficiency through Reading and Storytelling (TPRS)
Blaine Ray

The workshop has an introduction to TPRS, a demonstration and extensive practice. Teachers will practice various essential TPRS skills, including asking repetitive questions, pacing, and how to make the stories interesting via personalization & asking for “surprise” details from students. Teachers will be taught how to plan stories for their own classrooms. Teachers will also learn how to teach a story with student actors. The presenter will start with one sentence and practice adding additional sentences, one at a time. The presenter will also demonstrate an extended reading, and reading and discussing the novels. Lastly, teachers will learn about grading and classroom management in a TPRS classroom.

Half Day Workshop at SWCOLT

W3 Thursday, 8:00 am
(Purchased Ticket Required)

Dual Immersion School Visits

What makes Utah’s Dual Language Immersion stand out from all the rest? Participants will visit two dual language immersion elementary schools (Chinese and French) and will meet those who work daily in the program. You will see what planning, expertise, and teamwork it takes to create a world-class program. Meet in the Lobby of the Cliff Lodge near the concierge desk to board the bus.

Implementing the Integrated Performance Assessment in an Imperfect World
Rebecca Brazzale, Brigham Young University, UT

ACTFL’s Integrated Performance Assessment (IPA) can make language assessment more meaningful for both students and teachers. Yet, it may need to be implemented strategically so as to not overwhelm the already stressed language instructor. I will offer suggestions for integrating the IPA into the daily realities we face as teachers.

A Study on the Application of Chinglish in Teaching Chinese Grammar and Sentence Structure

*Qingling Yang, Cleveland State University, OH
Alex Yuan, Utah Valley University, UT*

This research studied the application of Chinglish (Chinese English) in teaching Chinese as a foreign language. There exist many differences between Mandarin Chinese and English. To distinguish the differences between mandarin Chinese and English in both grammar and sentence structures, Chinese sentences were translated into Chinglish (Chinese English) so that students could easily identify the differences between the two languages.

Friday Morning Sessions

10-Minute Idea Avalanche

F11   Friday, 8:00 AM   Exhibit Hall

Incorporating Consumption Traditions of Foreign Cultures into the Language Classroom to Teach Some Grammar and Vocabulary
Victor Zabala, University of Utah, UT

This presentation is aimed to show the importance of incorporating some important cultural aspects of the peoples that speak the languages we teach. One of the things that I want to show in this presentation is the possibility of teaching a very common tradition of drinking mate in Argentina to teach grammatical topics such as the imperative or tenses to describe this custom.

Exhibitor Break - 9:00-9:30
Meet the State Teachers of the Year

We encourage you to come and meet our state teachers of the year and visit our exhibitors in the exhibit hall this morning before the 2nd group of conference sessions. The Exhibitors help SWCOLT to be able to operate. For your convenience, there is a list of exhibitors and a map of the exhibit hall on page 2 of this program. The exhibit hall will be open until 1:30 p.m. on Saturday.

Many exhibitors will be holding drawings at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, so don’t miss out on your chance to see the latest products available to language educators and enter the drawings. You might get to take some of these products home with you.

SWCOLT appreciates and thanks all of our exhibitors this year.

Best of Colorado: Whole Brain Teaching in the Target Language
Eva Doblas, Diva de Leon Coffin, Janine Erickson
Denver Language School, CO

Based on many principles of Cooperative Learning and current brain research on learning, Whole Brain Teaching (WBT) employs various strategies and techniques to engage multiple areas of the brain while having students work peer to peer. WBT methods when combined with using the target language can generate highly active and engaging classrooms, enhance classroom management, and produce increased student learning outcomes. This session will show that adapting the WBT method in conjunction with exclusive use of the target language in the classroom can create an engaging classroom environment for students and an enjoyable workday for teachers.

Vocabulary Acquisition and Retention
Kyle Hercules, Clark High School, Plano ISD, TX

How often are your students asking you how to say things that mean something to them? Go beyond the approach of handing out a vocabulary list that most likely will remain in short-term memory and was not selected by your students. Instead, in this session I will discuss, present, and model strategies that you can take back to your classroom to help your students determine what they deem important and retain it for a much longer period of time. When students determine what they want to know how to say, it's meaningful for them, and they will retain that language longer. All strategies discussed can be used for all languages and all levels.

SWCOLT thanks them for their time and talents.
Plenary Speaker: SWCOLT Welcomes John De Mado

John De Mado has been an international advocate for second language acquisition for many years. He started his career as a middle/high school French and Spanish teacher, before entering the educational publishing profession.

Since 1993, Mr. De Mado has directed his own business, John De Mado Language Seminars, LLC, a company devoted exclusively to language acquisition issues. Besides the delivery of motivational keynote address, John devotes much of his time providing in-school professional and staff development to World Language teachers. He also develops proficiency-oriented curriculum documents for school districts.

John has authored numerous books in both French, Spanish and ESL that span the K–12 curriculum. He is also a singer/songwriter, having developed 4 rap CDs with accompanying DVDs designed to help students acquire French and Spanish: la Boutique magique, une Boum cool, Festejemos and Somos campeones.

From Mastery to Proficiency: Shifting the Paradigm

The long-standing goal of language instruction in America has been Mastery of the language studied. In the 1980’s, the new goal became Proficiency, bringing about an immense paradigm shift in our profession. This shift was further reinforced with the unveiling in Anaheim, CA of our National Standards for Language Learning in 1995.

What exactly is the difference between Mastery and Proficiency? Are the goals mutually exclusive? Through discussion, handouts, passion and visuals, this keynote will highlight the distinctions.

Be prepared to laugh heartily and to reflect profoundly…

Participants shall:
- Clearly distinguish between Proficiency and Mastery Instruction
- Be exposed to current language acquisition research
- More fully understand the role of grammar and accuracy in the language acquisition process
- Consider when and how to correct student error

John De Mado Language Seminars, Inc.

John will present our keynote address during the plenary session on Friday titled “From Mastery to Proficiency: Shifting the Paradigm.” (See more information to the right).

He will also host a session titled “Function-al Raps: A Must for the 21st Century Proficiency Toolbox” on Friday at 3:30.

SWCOLT is happy to welcome John to our conference and we hope you will all benefit from his experience and knowledge.

2015 Annual Conference

AATSP

Denver, CO

Grand Hyatt Hotel

July 17 – 20, 2015
Congratulations to SWCOLT Scholarship and Award Winners

Sarah Sexton
Excellence in Teaching Secondary

Ms. Sexton is loved and appreciated by colleagues, administrators, and students for her energetic classes and professional involvement beyond the classroom. Since her arrival at Fossil Ridge High School, the French program has grown from one French teacher to requiring a third French teacher. All of her classes incorporate elements to prepare her students for the AP exam, starting from the very first class. She received the 2013 ISE Language Matters Award, as well as receiving the Excellence in Teaching Award from the University of Northern Colorado in 2009. In addition, she has been recognized as the Outstanding Staff Member at Fossil Ridge in 2010, 2011, and 2012. She served as an Executive Board Member, Secondary Representative to CCFLT, as well as Co-president of the Colorado and Wyoming chapter of the American Association of Teachers of French. Her achievements also include presentations for her peers on the topics of lesson planning methodology and the uses of technology and film in language instruction at Colorado State University and CCFLT conference gatherings.

Dr. Jana Miller
Friend of the Profession

Dr. Miller serves as an example of what can be accomplished with will power and persistence. Although she had never been a language teacher, she became convinced that speaking two languages would open doors to her students in the future. After starting a one-way immersion program in Spanish, she added Chinese to the course of study. In spite of the rhetoric of English Only opponents, she persisted, and today 11th graders are taking the AP test early and achieving Advanced Low and Mid levels of proficiency by graduation in the Cave Creek Unified School District. Without her initiative, her district would never have received the generous FLAP grant that it did. If only we had more administrators who would be willing to step out and take a risk like she did. She is truly an inspiration for other administrators to follow.

Dr. Alicia Giralt
Excellence in Teaching Post Secondary

Dr. Giralt serves as a mentor to her students and colleagues at Weber State University, in Ogden, Utah. Not only have her students received grants to assist in their undergraduate research, but some have been chosen to present their research to the National Undergraduate Literature Conference, WSU’s Undergraduate Research Symposium and Celebration, National Conferences on Undergraduate Research, and United Nations Women. In addition, she has former students who have gone on to pursue their doctorate degrees and master’s degrees. Many other students have become successful teachers in local schools, coordinators at non-profit humanitarian organizations, and youth parole officers, among many other professions. She pioneered the idea of service-learning in the Spanish curriculum. For her efforts, she received the Service-Learning Engaged Scholar Award from the Utah Campus Compact in 2005 and the John Lindquist Award for Community Involvement in 2008. Realizing that immersion is the best way to gain proficiency in the target language, she has planned and directed summer study abroad programs in numerous Spanish-speaking countries.
Linda S. Bedson
Honorary
Lifetime Member Award

As a longtime member of the teaching community, Ms. Bedson has had an incredible impact on the lives of numerous students and colleagues. Recognized by her administrators as an exceptional instructional leader, her expertise in languages, as well as other areas, she is more than appreciated. She is the source of curriculum development, instructional strategy, and classroom environment. She has a natural feel for maintaining rigorous expectations, while staying patient with her students. In addition to executing her classroom responsibilities, she involves herself in the Arizona Language Association and SWCOLT. She served as Executive Secretary-Treasurer for AZLA from 1996-2007. She represented Arizona on the SWCOLT Board as the Scholarship Chair, 2007-2009. Not only did she serve as a Board member for each of these organizations, but she also shared her knowledge and teaching insights through numerous presentations at their conferences.

Richard Cordova
Universidad Internacional Center for Linguistic Multicultural Studies Scholarship to Cuernavaca, México

Richard Cordova was born in Santa Cruz, Bolivia, and he graduated from La Universidad Católica Boliviana in La Paz, Bolivia. He has taught Spanish in both charter and non-profit private schools in the Phoenix area for the past 16 years. He currently teaches Spanish II and Conversational Spanish IV at Brophy College Preparatory, a Jesuit high school in Phoenix.

Barbara Packer
Instituto Cemanáhuac Scholarship to Cuernavaca, México:

Barbara Packer was born and raised in southeastern Idaho. After a couple of years of high school Spanish she wasn’t sure she would ever be fluent. After serving a Spanish-speaking mission in New Orleans, Louisiana she got her teaching degree at Utah State University in Logan, UT. Upon graduating, she taught junior high English and Spanish in her hometown. She has taught 3rd grade Spanish Immersion, 4th and 5th grades, and more Spanish. She currently teaches Spanish and Theatre 1 at Centennial Jr. High in Kaysville, UT. She is excited (and a little nervous) to visit Mexico and represent Utah.
Diane Portillo
Oklahoma

Teacher of the Year for Oklahoma Foreign Language Teachers’ Association, Diane Portillo has been teaching for 16 years and is presently teaching Spanish at a Title I junior high in Moore, Oklahoma. Her other diverse experiences include 7 different schools in Oklahoma, Texas, and Guatemala and varied grade levels from elementary to high school. Diane’s passion includes surrounding her students with a rich, authentic language environment that incorporates the many cultures in Latin America and Spain. As a cooperating teacher for the past several years, she shares her enthusiasm and expertise with her student teachers. Diane works extensively within her district creating curriculum plans and guides for Spanish I and has produced corresponding benchmark exams that are used throughout the district.

Shannon Ruiz
Colorado

Shannon Ruiz is a Spanish teacher at Dunstan Middle School in Lakewood, Colorado. Shannon has served in leadership roles at his school and has assisted his district in Jefferson County with curriculum, diversity, and assessment projects. Shannon’s advocacy for collaboration among world language teachers is demonstrated through the creation of his web site, www.shannonruiz.com, which offers many free resources. He regularly presents at state, regional, and national conferences, where he has been recognized for many of his exemplary presentations. Shannon’s innovative ideas and engaging instruction in the classroom is expressed in the following statement from his former principal, “Students are drawn to him because of his unique ability to see their potential while demonstrating how the teaching and learning process can be both focused and utterly enjoyable. “

Janet Craven
Utah

Teacher of the Year for the Utah Foreign Language Teachers Association, Janet Craven is in her third year teaching Second Grade Chinese Dual Immersion. Years after serving a mission in Taiwan, she decided to study intensely and take the Oral Proficiency Exam after learning the Chinese program was coming to her school. Janet is a consulting educator for Jordan School District’s Dual Immersion Teachers and has developed many programs that she shares with her colleagues, including a cross-grade Chinese Reading program. She loves to teach and has helped to create a rich environment in her classroom that engages her students and helps them to progress in curriculum areas along with learning the Chinese Language. Janet also extends her passion to helping her community learn more about Chinese.

Amy Lenord
Texas

Amy Lenord has been teaching Spanish since 1998 and currently teaches Spanish in Plano Independent School District in Plano, Texas. She graduated from Texas Tech University with a Bachelor of Arts in both Spanish and English, but chose to focus on teaching Spanish due to her intense love for the language and culture. Amy currently serves as the Texas Foreign Language Association’s President Elect. You may have attended her ACTFL session last year, Novices Can, Too! the 2013 Best of SWCOLT. Her district coordinator states,” Amy’s default setting is “Collaborate!” She has developed a national PLN that enables her to share her experiences, insights, resources, and knowledge with colleagues near and far. Her impact on learning extends beyond her classroom, due to a spirit of generosity and a desire for community, which seems to connect her to every teacher she meets.

Julie Lozada Ocampo
Nevada

Julie Lozada Ocampo is the Teacher of the Year for the Professional Language Association of Nevada. A National Board Certified teacher in rural northern Nevada, Julie teaches levels one through AP Spanish Literature and Culture. She initiated the first AP Spanish courses at her school and shaped Heritage Spanish programs in two districts. Julie has facilitated workshops at the local, state and regional levels and recently served on a state level committee charged with updating and aligning Nevada’s world language standards. As an active contributor to the community, she organized and interpreted for her school’s Noche de la Comunidad, an outreach to the Hispanic community that has morphed into an area-wide celebration every fall. Julie has helped share Peruvian music, culture and language with over 25,000 students in Nevada and California as manager of Duo Kantu, a Peruvian Andean duo. Julie delights in awakening a love of Spanish language and culture in her students.

Mariana Bahtchevanova
Arizona

Teacher of the Year for the Arizona Language Teachers Association, Mariana Bahtchevanova is a French language and linguistics professor, coordinator of the lower division French courses, teacher mentor and supervisor of the French language instructors at the School of International Letters and Cultures at Arizona State University. A firm believer in the crucial role of foreign language and culture education for the formation of the 21-century global citizens, Dr. Bahtchevanova’s language and linguistics courses aim to develop skills and competencies that will help her students become competitive professionals, driven by the motivation to learn, create, and collaborate in local, national, and international communities.

Nicole Naditz
California

Nicole, a National Board Certified teacher has taught French to grades 3 through 12. Her numerous awards include Grand Prize Winner of the 2010 Jane Ortner Educating through Music Award, 2011 San Juan Teacher of the Year, Outstanding Teacher of the Foreign Language Association of Greater Sacramento and the California Language Teachers’ Association, Sacramento County Teacher of the Year and a finalist for the California State Teacher of the Year. Active in professional organizations, Nicole is president, webmaster and advocacy chair of the Foreign Language Association of Greater Sacramento and has served on a variety of ACTFL committees. She is the founder of the Read Around the World Program that brings students into local libraries for a multi-lingual children's story hour. She has presented at local, state, regional, national and international conferences. In 2011, she and her students earned a Guinness World Record for their Discover Languages 24-hour webcast (“longest, uninterrupted live webcast”). Recently, she was selected by National Geographic to appear in a video for their Geo-Educator community, which showcases Nicole’s expertise in developing students’ understanding of our interconnected world.

Student Perceptions on the Use of iPads in the Foreign Language Classroom
Electra G. Fielding, Alicia Giralt
Weber State University, UT

The use of technology in the classroom is not an alternative anymore. Many Millennial students are constantly connected and expect their leaning experiences to follow the same paradigm. Tablets, such as iPads, are becoming very popular due to their small size, relatively low price tags, and quick processors, but educators wonder if talks about their efficacy in the college classroom are due more to hype than to measurable assessments.

Paso a Paso: Crafting Methods to Support Student Progress toward Higher Proficiency
Keith Homer
Academy for Math, Engineering and Sciences, UT

With teacher quality among the top issues expressed by the public concerning the education system, improving our effectiveness as teachers remains an ongoing professional obligation. This session will demonstrate a few ways to craft our work (and in turn, student work) as we take students along the path from beginner to intermediate proficiency levels. Using some lessons from Spanish class to illustrate, these classroom methods will help us fine tune what we do as we ‘scaffold’ or support our students alongside their language journey.

Reaching New Heights in AP Spanish Language and Culture
*Ken Stewart, Chapel Hill High School, NC
Dr. Fernando Rubio, University of Utah, UT*

In this session, participants will take an in-depth look at the new free-response task models for the 2014 AP Spanish Language and Culture course and exam. Special attention will be given to classroom strategies for students to succeed on the persuasive essay, formal email reply and the spoken cultural comparison. Through interactive dialogue, modeling, and examining student responses, participants will leave with a variety of tips and resources to share with their students. In the second segment of the AP Spanish Language and Culture dual session, participants will take a deeper dive into thematic planning, teaching and assessment. The presenter will share resources and methodologies to integrate the AP themes, authentic cultural content and strategies to culminate in an Integrated Performance Assessment. The use of the IPA in the AP Spanish Language and Culture course will be presented not only as an assessment instrument, but also as an organizational structure to guide lesson planning.

Spring Skiing?

Ever wanted to ski and golf on the same day? Some seasons, Snowbird’s chairs don't stop turning until July 4! With some of the deepest snow pack and one of the longest seasons in North America, Snowbird is the ultimate spring (and sometimes summer) skiing destination. And it’s great snow, too! Thanks to a phenomenon called Lake Effect, Little Cottonwood Canyon powder is known worldwide.

If you’re sticking around after the conference, take advantage of the snow to get in some skiing this spring. Forgot your ski gear or don’t have any? Rentals are available in the Cliff Lodge.
